The Actual value of any item of your personal property is measured by the price at which it could be sold considering its present age and condition.

If you believe that some or all of your property is exempt from execution, you may request a hearing before this court by filling out the enclosed form or a substantially similar form, and delivering the request to the office of the Clerk of this Court not later than the end of the fifth business day after you receive this notice. In the space provided, you may state your reason for claiming that some of your property is exempt from execution, but you are not required to do so. If you do not state reasons on the form, the Court will permit you to state your reasons at the hearing. If you do state reasons on the form, you may also state other reasons at the hearing.

If you request a hearing by delivering your request no later than the end of the fifth business day after you receive this notice, the hearing will be conducted no later than twelve days after the Court receives your request, unless you request an earlier hearing due to an emergency, in which case the Court will schedule the hearing as soon as practicable. At the hearing the court will consider the amount of your property that is exempt from execution and the amount that can be used to satisfy all or part of the judgment you owe to the judgment creditor. The Court will not hear or consider any objections to the judgment itself at the hearing.

If you do not request a hearing by delivering your request prior to the end of the fifth business day after you receive this notice, you give up your right to a hearing and to assert reasons why some or all of your property should not be used for payment of your debt to the judgment creditor.

If you have any questions concerning this matter, you may contact the office of the Clerk of this Court. If you want legal representation, contact your lawyer immediately. If you need the name of a lawyer, contact the local bar association or your legal services office.
